SAVING FOR THE FUTURE

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The New York Stock Exchange has performed a public service in showing that the popular Series E War Bond becomes more important for you to hold the longer you hold it. It is something like a watermelon. It is the last weeks (or years) that it gets sweet.

For example, a $1000 bond (cost $750) increases in value only $5 the first year; $10 the second; $15 the third; $20 the next three years; and $40 the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth years. Based on its value at the beginning of each year, your income increases from less than 1 per cent the first year to over 4 per cent the last four years. Or, based on its original cost of $750, the interest accruing in each of the last four years is 5 1/3 per cent. This, with safety against loss by fire or theft, plus exemption from the property taxes of states and municipalities plus the assurance that this bond will never shrink in dollar value below what you paid for it. Can you beat it?

The Stock Exchange tells the American people that "the bonds of our Government are the only securities this Exchange has ever recommended in the more than 150 years of its existence."

This column tries to cut the ooey out of whatever it treats and will pursue this war bond theme on that basis. The real question is not whether war bonds earn, or will pay so many dollars, but rather, what will those dollars be worth in terms of food, clothing, housing, etc., in the years ahead?

Japan Almost Completely Blockaded

Guam — Strategic Air Force headquarters disclosed today that Japan has been almost completely blockaded by sustained B-29 mining operations in coastal waters.

The importation of food and other products has been reduced by 75 per cent in the past four months. Every important harbor in Japan has been closed by mines.

These home harbors as well as ports on the Asiatic continent as far north as Rastin, within 20 miles of the Siberian border, have been and are constantly being mined.

The first phase of the effective aerial mining by Superforts was begun on March 27 when Japan had access to all shipping lanes and the great industrial cities of southern Honshu depended on water transportation for 75 per cent of its goods.

Many Jap Personnel Killed; Junks Sunk

Manila — Forty-one Jap ships, including 15 troop-laden junks were reported sunk or damaged today by planes of General MacArthur's command.

MacArthur's communique reported that many Japanese personnel were killed when the 15 junks were attacked off the Indo-China coast.

A revised report revealed that in addition Okinawa-based planes had sunk four freighters, severely damaged six more cargo ships and hit two destroyer-escorts Tuesday off Kyushu.

Okinawa-based planes have blasted almost 300 Jap ships since they joined the blockade of enemy harbor shipping lanes just a month ago.

The main blow against Kyushu Wednesday was launched by 250 Okinawa-based planes which concentrated on Nagasaki, seaport and rail terminal on the western coast of the island.

A 2,000-ton tanker, one large, one medium and seven small freighters were destroyed along Nagasaki's waterfront by low-level attacks spearheaded by P-47 Thunderbolts.

TODAY'S SPOTLIGHT IN THE NEWS

By International News Service

The city of Koenigsberg, which the Big Three proposes to turn over to Soviet Russia, is the capital of East Prussia, with a pre-war population of more than 300,000.

Koenigsberg first grew up around a castle built in 1255 by the Teutonic Order near the fishing village of Steindamm. Destroyed by the Prussians in 1263, it was rebuilt on its present site on the banks of the Pregel River.

The town entered the Hanseatic League in 1340. From 1457 to 1525 Koenigsberg was the residence of the Grand Master of the Teutonic Order and after that—until 1618—of the Dukes of Prussia. It subsequently suffered much damage from the Great Northern Wars, not recovering until the 17th Century.

In more recent times Koenigsberg became an important naval and military fortress as well as a center of commerce and a place of learning. Among numerous famous professors at the city's university, founded in 1544, was the German metaphysician Immanuel Kant.

THE STORY

"SENSATIONAL," Admiral Nimitz called it, when the story came through of a job done by five U. S. submarines under enemy fire in the typhoon-swept China Sea. Now released with these photos, the saga tells of bold Yank courage, death of imprisoned allies in a sinking ship, rescue of survivors. It began when one Yank sub attacked a Japanese ship convoy bound from Straits Settlements for Japan and—despite heavy enemy action—sank a big tanker and a transport packed with British and Australian prisoners-of-war. Four other U. S. submarines joined the attack, which continued through the storm till ten Jap ships were destroyed with their crews and cargoes. Then the subs turned to rescue work and saved 159 former prisoners-of-war from the seething ocean. Three of the submarines received the Presidential Unit Citation. (International)

SUPERFORTS AND MUSTANGS ATTACK SCATTERED MILITARY TARGETS IN JAPAN FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE DAY

Osaka-Kobe District is Hit; Jap Airfields Are Strafed

HIT VITAL FACTORIES

Set Afire 14 Small Vessels Caught in The Osaka Bay

By Joseph A. St. Amant (L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

A Japanese source reported that a force of 100 Mustangs—bell-wetters by B-29s—took up the air war against Japan today in the third straight day of raids by the powerful American fighters.

A Jap Domei agency wireless transmission reported that the big force of Mustangs—led by what was termed a "small number" of Superforts—attacked scattered military targets in the Kanto district of central Honshu for an hour and a half this morning (Japanese time).

Domei claimed that three of the attacking planes were shot down and two others heavily damaged. The report was recorded by the FCC.

The unverified enemy announcement followed disclosure by Strategic Air Forces headquarters of a raid by 139 two-banded Mustangs against the Osaka-Kobe industrial area yesterday.

In the second straight day of raids the low-flying Mustangs rocketed and strafed five Jap airfields, vital transportation facilities and factories on Honshu.

Aircraft hangars, buildings, four factories, an oil refinery, natural gas tanks and rolling stock in the Nagoya-Toyohashi rail yards were among the targets hit.

The Mustangs destroyed seven locomotives and one parked Jap plane in their attacks. They also damaged two grounded Jap aircraft and a number of railway cars and set afire 14 small Jap vessels caught in Osaka Bay.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz issued an additional report on damage inflicted to Japan in last Monday's 1,500-plane carrier raids against Honshu.

Final results of Monday's strikes, Nimitz said, showed 116 Jap ships sunk or damaged plus 273 Jap planes crippled. The list included

WOMEN LEARN MORE ABOUT CANNING ART

Peaches, Apple Sauce, Tomatoes, Lima Beans and Pickles Processed

THE THIRD IN A SERIES

Apple sauce canned minus sugar; cold pack tomatoes and peaches; tomato juice; pre-cooked cold pack lima beans; and crisp dill pickles—this was the schedule yesterday at the third in the series of canning school sessions conducted by The Philadelphia Electric Company with The Bristol Courier as co-sponsor.

Home-makers gathered in St. James' parish house secured many helpful canning hints from Mrs. Elmer Nixon, the lecturer-demonstrator, and had a thoroughly enjoyable hour's session.

Aided by Miss Mary McIlhenny, Mrs. Nixon had by the end of the hour a fine row of jars bright with color and filled with vitamins.

"In these days of sugar shortages you can can any fruit minus sugar with the exception of strawberries. Then sugar can be added when jars are opened for use. Don't hesitate to can without sugar for it is the processing that keeps the fruit, not the sugar," she told the audience.

A recent addition to canning equipment used yesterday by Mrs. Nixon in preparing the apple sauce and tomato juice was an aluminum food mill.

In preparing the peaches for processing by the cold pack method, the demonstrator used a thin syrup made of one cup of sugar to three cups of water. "This is plenty sweet and by not using much sugar you get a better flavor and enjoy the natural sweetness of the peaches. This is true of many fruits—a better tasting fruit with small amounts of sugar."

In the preparation of the lima beans they were blanched in order to secure shrinkage, thus guaranteeing more to a jar; to set the color; and to destroy spoilage bacteria.

Mrs. Nixon re-emphasized the need for canning equipment being in good condition—advising the women to run a finger around the top of the jars to make certain there is no chipping. "The lid will not seal if the jar is chipped. Use that jar instead for jellies, chili sauce, etc." One helpful hint was to gather together all necessary materials before starting the canning.

Woman and Girl Injured In 2 Separate Crashes

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Aug. 3—Returning from a horse and buggy trip, Mrs. Mary Butler suffered possible fractures of the ribs when the rear of the carriage was struck by a station wagon, Tuesday night at 10:40. She was removed to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Butler, a Philadelphia resident, told Trooper Gallagher of South Langhorne barracks, Pa. State Police, that the operator of the station wagon halted after the accident, spoke briefly to her and continued on his way. If apprehended he will be charged with failing to identify himself at the scene of an accident.

Although the wagon was damaged to some extent, the horse escaped injury. Trooper Gallagher took the woman to the hospital.

Trooper Gallagher was called earlier Tuesday evening to investigate another accident which took place opposite the railroad station in Crofton, where a 14-year-old girl suffered a minor injury.

According to Trooper Gallagher, the accident took place about 7:45 o'clock, when automobiles operated by James Elliott, Cornwells Heights, and Edward Neibauer, Elkins Park, collided. Elliott, who was proceeding in the direction of Bristol, attempted to make a left turn into a parking space opposite the railroad station, and the car operated by Neibauer was proceeding in the opposite direction.

The only person injured was Elliott's daughter, Dolores, who received a bruised ankle. She was treated at the scene of the accident. The cars were damaged to the extent of about $40. No arrests were made.

Twenty-four young men, none of whom are over 30 years of age, left Bristol this morning for induction into the armed forces.

NOTE UNCERTAINTY IN POST-WAR PLAN OF NEWTOWN AREA

Peak War-Time Employment Figure Lowers As Expected

SEE A LABOR SURPLUS

Langhorne, Newtown and Warminster Area Have Few War-Time Plans

Uncertainty in the post-war employment characterizes the Civilian Economic Development summary of the Langhorne-Newtown-Warminster section of Bucks County. The report states: "The rise of several wartime industries sent the employment in this area from 650 up to the peak of 5731 in 1944. The Brewster Plant at Johnsville was the largest of the four new war industries. Employment estimates for 1945 are down around 3500. A labor surplus of over 2500 is predicted in the C. E. D. report for this section, which is not unexpected in view of the rapid rise in employment in the aircraft plants during the war. However, nearly all of the war plant employees are non-residents.

"Management in this area has indicated less interest in post-war plans than in any other section of Bucks County. This area also is the only one in the county where one or more of the pre-war industries may actually employ less after the war than in 1940, it is stated. The C. E. D. report emphasizes the need for new industries in the Hulmeville-South Langhorne section, where idle plants existed prior to 1940 and where there is a greater likelihood of less employment by local industries in the period ahead than in 1940. The plants in this area now employ only 60% of the 1940 number. Post-war plans for peacetime production for these plants should be expanded, the C. E. D. Committee recommends. More diversification of industry would help these communities in the post-war period.

"The Warminster section poses difficult post-war problems. The future of Lacey Park Housing project and of the use of the Brewster Plant are very uncertain. Several other small wartime plants in that section and Newtown will undoubtedly enter into peacetime production. Most of these, however, at reduced payrolls."

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

WITH THE 28TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN ASSEMBLY AREA COMMAND, Aug. 3—PFC Walter A. Prickett is en route home from the European Theatre of Operations with the veteran "Bloody Bucket" Division, which in eight months saw vicious combat action from Normandy's hedgerows to the heart of the Reich.

The 28th quit its occupational duties in Germany July 5th and moved to Camp Pittsburgh, one of Assembly Area Command's 17 redeployment camps near Reims.

Entering action July 30, 1944, at St. Lo, the "Bloody Bucket" men battled across Normandy, paraded through Paris, proceeded east through Belgium and Luxembourg, and smashed into the Siegfried Line September 11th—the first troops to enter Germany in strength.

After its November fight in Hurtgen Forest, the 28th moved to the "quiet" Luxembourg sector. On December 16, it caught the full force of Von Rundstedt's Ardennes offensive. Quickly recuperating, the 28th moved south to help liberate Colmar in Alsace and drive to the Rhine. Within a month, it was again at the Rhine near Coblenz.

PFC Prickett is the son of Mrs. Walter Prickett, Bath Road, Bristol, Pa.

GERMAN WAR DEAD

Lacking confidence in the authenticity of German assertions that Nazi war dead did not exceed 4,000,000, the Allies, for purposes of their own, will make a new count.

German figures on total casualties in the armed forces are placed at 14,000,000, of which, fewer than one fourth are reported to have lost their lives. In view of the length of the war, and the terrific punishment suffered in Russia and on the Western Front, the Allies suspect that the figures have been pared.

German figures contain further discrepancies in number of civilian dead. Berlin has pretended only 400,000 lost their lives in the tremendous bombing of Germany. Great Britain admits 60,000 Englishmen were killed on home soil by enemy action. The two figures can not be reconciled, and the Allies are determined to learn the truth.

Even multiplied five times, which Allied officials say would be nearer the truth, it would seem blanket bombing of a nation does not take as disastrous a toll of civilians as might be supposed. When it is recalled great cities were destroyed, metropolitan areas containing millions of inhabitants wiped out, it hardly seems possible that only half a million died.

There must be some reason for German attempts to conceal the extent of Nazi losses. It may be reluctance to admit to the world how utter was German defeat. But the truth will become known. The Allies are determined on that score.

FRENCH JUSTICE

It is impossible to escape the conviction, when reading accounts of the trial of old Petain—who is guilty as sin—that French justice and the procedure in its courts are greatly at variance with American justice and court procedure, with the possible exception of the mass sedition trial at Washington.

The French, of course, are entitled to run their courts in their own manner, which it appears is quite exciting. Unique, from the American viewpoint, are the shouting of questions by jurors, exchanges between jurors and the accused, the interpolation by the judge of a telegram which Petain was reported to have sent Hitler congratulating him upon repulsing the British and Canadians at Dieppe, the fulsome oratory in which witnesses for the prosecution are granted indulgence, and the opinions which witnesses are permitted to express.

In American courts the interpolation of a fact by the judge, or interrogation of a witness by a juror, might be grounds for a new trial, and the witness who attempts to express an opinion, unless he has first qualified as an expert, runs the risk of judicial reprimand.

It would be easy to send Petain to a firing squad in the United States. Perhaps the French will achieve a similar result in their own way.

Inside Your Congress

So let's face that question square on. A Government bond bought in 1939, when the war broke out, it cashed now will buy less food, clothing, etc., than then you take a loss. This is because the cost of living has gone up more than the interest has accrued on the bond. It may go up still further or it may reverse itself and your investment grow in purchasing power.

But this is something the 30,000,000 holders of war bonds can do something about. They can protect their savings from melting away. They vote and have bought a stake in sound government.

They can cash in their bonds and say to hell with it. They can be different to grat and waste of public funds. They can go ga-ga in an orgy of world "salvation" (or rather world ruin if this Republic collapses.) They can be hostile to free enterprise in its ceaseless search to make more and better things at lower cost. They can tax the self-starters and prime movers to death to feed the drones. They can vote government into competition with its own taxpayers. Cities and states can trample each other in a grand rush to the Candy Bar on the Potomac. Men can shrug their shoulders as they read of 204 strikes in fifteen months in a single plant (one every two days—a fine encouragement to investment in the tools for future jobs!). They can pass by on the other side as tribute is levied for work not done which makes things cost more and bonds worth less. They can be asses enough to think the "Government" can create wealth by spilling ink on paper.

They can do all this and watch their life's savings melt away. Or they can take as much interest in the affairs of their Government, federal, state and local, as they do in weeding their gardens, or watching a cake in the oven (just that much). They can buckle their belts, pay as they go, balance the budget, give the demagogues of spending the Bronx cheer, give the inventors and researchers the green light, and work, toil and sweat, realizing that it is only the production of the citizen that gives any value whatever to the promises of his Government.

Then your bonds will grow in value faster than interest. And if I may be so bold, it is time for government officials, life insurance presidents, bankers, industry executives, and labor leaders to speak up. And you, also.

saw heavy action at Metz, the Saar, Ardennes, Coblenz, and in the crossing of the Rhine. Patrick's regiment was in the 87th or Golden Acorn Division. He wed Miss Leona M. Kaminski, of Bensalem Township, since his return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Patrick, Wilson avenue.

Patrick, who also holds the Combat Infantry Badge, and who wears three battle stars on his ETO ribbon, will report at Fort Benning, Ga., at the end of his furlough. A citation which accompanied his award of the Silver Star reads in part: "For gallantry in action against an armed enemy of the United States from 11 Dec. 1944 to 31 March, 1945. During that period Lt. Patrick performed his duties as mortar platoon leader in an outstanding manner. Without regard for personal safety, Lt.

Patrick on numerous occasions exposed himself to heavy enemy fire in order to effectively direct mortar fire on enemy positions. On one occasion he remained in an observation post under direct fire from enemy self-propelled guns and artillery and mortar fire and calmly directed the fire of his platoon until the objective was taken. On another occasion, accompanied by only three soldiers, he effected the surrender of Niederfell, Germany, and occupied it until reinforcements arrived."

Lt. Patrick has at his home a number of small German fire-arms, knives, a variety of flags, binoculars, fur and other type clothing used by the enemy.

O God, who didst so love the world as to give Thine Only-Begotten Son, that we believing on Him may be saved; look with compassion upon those who know Thee not, and on the multitudes that are scattered as sheep having no shepherd. May the messengers of Thy Gospel seek those who are lost and restore them unto Thee, that they may be gathered from all places whither they have wandered, may be strengthened, protected and guided to the true Shepherd and Bishop of souls, even Jesus Christ Thy Son. DIAMOND SCORES A CLOSE VICTORY OVER RIVAL NINE

Local Nine Defeats Schutte-Koerting Team by The Score of 5 to 3

ONE HIT UNTIL SIXTH

Sagolla Had the Schutties Baffled During Early Part of Game

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 3.—In one of the best played games of the season, the Diamond team scored a close 5-3 victory over the Schutte & Koerting nine on the Echo Beach field.

Opposing hurlers in the thriller were Joe Sagolla for Diamond and Teddy Samsel for the Schutties. Sagolla allowed the Cornwells team but four hits while the Diamond outfit had five off Samsel.

The Diamond team had a 2-0 lead going into the sixth inning. This was acquired in the second inning when Ludwig walked and scored when "Mike" DeRisi plastered a double to left center. DeRisi scored when there was a bobble on Mitchell's grounder.

Until the last half of the sixth inning, Sagolla had held the Schutties to a lone hit but then things began to pop and before the frame was over the Cornwells boys had forged ahead, 3-2. Samsel reached base on an error and advanced on the overthrow. Farenio scored Samsel with a hit and then "Johnny" Maseles hit a home run over Ludwig's head in centerfield, scoring Farenio ahead of him. Kennedy and H. Farenio kept up the rally by singling but Kelly grounded out for the third out of the inning.

The 3-2 lead looked good until after two were out in the Diamond part of the seventh. Ludwig had whiffed for the first out but DeRisi kept things alive with a single. Oriola followed with a base hit and Chickilletti was sent in to run for DeRisi. McGerr batted for Rotundo and struck out. Jackie Mitchell proved himself invaluable in the pinch by singling to center to score both Chickilletti and Oriola and scoring himself later on a bad throw.

The first batter in the Schutte & Koerting half of the seventh was Joe Miskik, who lined what would have been a clean hit to center. But Miskik juggled along to first base with the result that Ludwig fielded the ball fast and tossed out the runner at first.

LAST DITCH RALLY FAILS TO WIN GAME

A last-ditch rally by the Hunter girls fell short last evening on Leedom's field and the Marines defeated the munition workers, 4-3, before a large crowd.

The Hunter lassies scored two runs and had the tying tally on third base when Lt. Butler fanned Mazur for the final out of the game.

The Marines, from the Depot of Supplies, Philadelphia, appeared here garbed in their new softball uniforms of gray, and played wonderful ball to cop the verdict.

Lt. Butler struck out nine batters while the Hunter hurler, Laura Bachofer, had three strikeouts to her credit. Lt. Butler walked four batters while Bachofer issued but one pass.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

BY JOE ELBERSON

No tuna . . . although the five local fishermen who went out from Bench Haven Terrace aboard Capt. George Clover's "Angler" on Tuesday didn't bring any tuna in they were a very satisfied party. Included in their catch were 59 large bonitas, two blues and five dolphins. In the party was James Couca, Bruno Nonini, James Swank, Samuel Lewinski, all of Bristol, and Clifford Long, Morrisville.

Outstanding gunsmith . . . Elzeir Bouffard does not like to shoot but his guns have made shooting history. Today many of his shotguns are teaching gunners of the Army Air Forces the duck hunter's trick of hitting fast-moving targets.

Like the armorer who followed King Arthur's knights to jousting tournaments, Bouffard has been gunsmith to American sharpshooting champions at the Grand American matches at Vandalia, Ohio, from 1921 to 1941.

The biggest trap shooters in the game have sought him out to make adjustments in their guns. Bouffard's "customers" include such big league shooters as Joe Hilstand, holder of the world's long run trap shooting record—1,179; Mrs. Lela Hall, four-time consecutive holder of the American Women's amateur championship, and scores of others.

In the last 45 years Bouffard has assembled more than 100,000 shotguns for the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. These have ranged from custom-built shotguns that cost as high as one thousand dollars to the famous Model 12, now used extensively in the Air Forces training program.

Federation meeting . . . on Monday, August 6, delegates from Bucks County's organized sportsmen's clubs will meet in the Monument Restaurant, Doylestown, at 8 p. m.

In addition to some special features promised by Jack Fetterolf, entertainment committee chairman, the delegates will learn how the Assemblymen and Senators from the southeastern district of the Commonwealth voted on the recent bill which would have increased the fishing license fee.

The bill, heartily endorsed and supported by sportsmen throughout the State, was defeated.

More salt water fishing notes . . . According to all recent reports salt water angling is greatly improved over the last few days. Nice catches of fluke were made by localities recently at Atlantic City. George Colville landed a 6 pound, 9 ounce fluke in Barnegat Bay last week. Another party, of which Al Purvin was a member, averaged better than 50 porgies per man while fishing out of Cape May a few days ago.

Pleasing to the eye . . . the present well-kept appearance of the Canal in the Borough, with its freshly mowed banks and debris-free bottom appearance, certainly warrants a thanks to the Borough Engineer and other local government officials who were instrumental in having the State clean up this stretch of water.

League this evening when it crossed bats with the Eastern Aircraft team on Leedom's field. Game will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

The Arrows will also attempt to stop its losing streak which has now reached three straight games. "Herm" Pluma will do the hurling for the Arrows with Jack Mitchell being his battery mate. Warwick is due to toss them in for the Aircrafters.

The Voltz-Texaco team, which has won two games this week, will seek its third straight in meeting the J. A. Roebeling team on Wetzel field, Trenton. A triumph for the gasmen will put them but one game away from second place.

ROHM & HAAS LOSES TO BADENHAUSEN IX

Falling to hold a 4-1 lead, the Rohm & Haas team lost to Badenhause last evening on the Maple Beach field. Final score was Badenhause, 5; Rohm & Haas, 4. The Baddies scored four times in the fourth frame to win the contest.

It was the third straight win of the second half for the first half champions and Wayne Schneider did a fine job on the hill as he held the chemical mixers to three hits made by Hauser, Castor and Jackson.

Until he went a little sour in the fourth, Paul Cervellero pitched good ball. He allowed the winners eight blows.

Women Learn More About Canning Art

ning process, thus saving time and guaranteeing better results through quick processing. The women were again reminded to use only standard jars for canning, not using those in which coffee, mayonnaise, etc. are purchased, as such will not stand high pressure in processing.

Among the points brought out yesterday for those who have been attending and the new-comers were: Use sterilized jars for anything processed less than 20 minutes. Keep rubbers in hot water so they will be certain to seal.

Two more dates given for the canning sessions are Thursdays, August 16th and 30th, in St. James' parish house.

Highlights Given Of Communique

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Highlights of the Big Three Communique from Potsdam:

No mention was made of the Pacific war, nor of Russia's connection with it. But the communique said that the Chiefs of Staff held meetings on "military matters of common interest."

Agreement was reached on reparations from Germany. Each of the three nations will fill its own claims, largely by taking goods and equipment from its own occupation zone. In addition, Russia will get 10 per cent of removable industrial capital equipment from the western zones as a flat payment, and an additional 1 per cent for which she will pay in goods. The Western Allies retain sole claim to captured gold.

Russia will get Koenigsberg and adjacent territory in East Prussia. Poland will get a slice of Germany, including the rest of East Prussia, and the former free city of Danzig.

Germans in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary shall be transferred to Germany "in an orderly and humane manner."

Agreement was reached on a detailed program for the control of Germany, to strip the Reich of war-making capacity, smash huge cartels, drive out nazism and "convince the German people that they have suffered a total military defeat."

Under disarmament, all German land, naval and air forces, and all Nazi militaristic organizations will be "completely and finally abolished."

War criminal trials will begin soon. The first list of defendants will be published before September 1st.

A Council of Foreign Ministers of the Big Five, including France and China, will be established soon to prepare peace treaties with Italy, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Rumania. Italy will receive first consideration. The Big Three then will be able to support applications from those five nations for United Nations membership.

The Spanish Government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco will not receive membership in the United Nations because of "its support of the Axis powers."

The Big Three have no doubt that representatives of the Allied press will enjoy "full freedom" to report to the world on developments in Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland. Yugoslavia was not mentioned.

Yamashita once boasted that he would sit in the Manila Hotel and write the story of his glorious victory over Gen. MacArthur.
